Firm Launches Business Advisory Group to Help Business Clients Grow Their Businesses, Avoid Pitfalls and Save Money

MONTGOMERY COUNTY, PA. January 22, 2015: The law firm of Hamburg, Rubin, Mullin, Maxwell & Lupin is pleased to announce the formation of its specialized Business Advisory Group. Comprised of some of the firm's top business, tax, estates and employment lawyers, the Business Advisory Group was formed to help local and national businesses grow, avoid costly pitfalls and save money.

According to firm Managing Partner Steven Lupin, "We know firsthand how rough it is out there. Whether it is a business that failed when an officer became suddenly incapacitated, or a company sued by a group of employees alleging unfair working conditions, we have seen it all. Had they talked to us first, we might have prevented these crippling events from occurring. Running a business today can be especially difficult, given the myriad of laws within which a company must comply — in addition to dealing with competition, employee issues and changing customer needs. For all these reasons, we wanted to protect our clients more, and so we created this laser-focused team of lawyers to help our business clients be protected and properly advised at all times."

One of the key services provided by the Group will be a business audit designed to spot and cure problems before they mushroom into legal disasters.

More information about the group, including a list of 16 questions every business owner should address to sleep more soundly at night can be found at www.BusinessAdvisoryGroup.com.
